EXPERIENCE MITCHELL'S DEED TO EDWARD FOBES

THE MAYFLOWER DESCENDANT

Vol. VII JANUARY, 1905 No. 1

A DEED FROM EXPERIENCE MITCHELL TO EDWARD FOBES WITH THE AUTOGRAPHS OF JOHN ALDEN, JONATHAN[2] ALDEN AND JOHN[2] SOULE

Transcribed from the Original Document,

By George Ernest Bowman

Through the courtesy of Mr. Henry D. Forbes, of Boston, we are able to present, in the frontispiece of this number, a reproduction of a deed which bears a very interesting quartette of signatures, all written on the eighth of January, 1679/80. By this deed Experience Mitchell, who married Jane[2] Cooke (Francis[1]), transferred land at Bridgewater to Edward Fobes. The deed was witnessed by John[2] Soule (George[1]) and Jonathan[2] Alden (John[1]), and it was acknowledged before John Alden. It therefore bears the autograph signatures of one Mayflower passenger and of two sons and one son-in-law of Mayflower passengers. The deed has never been put on record.

GOVERNOR BRADFORD'S LETTER BOOK

BUT now I will return again to Mr. Shirley's letters, and see what he saith to our last agreement.

To his worthy and approved loving friend, Mr. WILLIAM BRADFORD, Governour of Plymouth in New England, these,

Most worthy Sir, and my continual loving friend
Mr. BRADFORD,

YOUR letters of the 21st of May, from Plymouth, and of the 6th of Sept. 1629 from Salem, I have received, whereby I understand of your health and welfare, and all your friends, for which great mercies and blessings, the Lord make us thankful, for answer of your loving letter and the many thanks for small courtesies, I say, in a word, I would I had power and ability to do for you and all honest men with you, according to my will and desire; but though I came short in the former, I hope the Lord will continue my love in affection, and that you will accept of what I can do: Your deputation we have received, and the goods have been taken up and sold, by your faithful agent, Mr. Allerton, myself having been in Holland near three month this summer, at Amsterdam and other places, about my affairs: I see further the agreement you have made with the generality, in which I cannot understand but you have done very well, both for them and you, and also for your friends at Leyden; Mr. Beauchamp, Mr. Andrews, Mr. Hatherly and myself, do so like it and approve of it, as we are willing to join with you in it, and, as it shall please God to direct and enable us, will be assisting and helpful to you the best that possibly we can: Nay, had you not taken this course, I do not see how you should have accomplished the end you first aimed at, and some others endeavoured these years past: We know it must keep us from the profit, which otherwise, by the blessing of God and your endeavours, might be gained; for most of those which came in May last unto you, as also these now sent, though I hope honest and good people, yet not like to be helpful to raise profit; but rather, nay certain, must, a good while, be chargeable to you and us; at which it is likely, had not this wise and discreet course been taken, many of your generality would have grudged: Again you say well in your letter (and I make no doubt but you will perform it) that now being but few on whom the burden must be, you will both manage it the better and set to it more cheerfully, having no discontents nor contradiction, but so lovingly join together in affection and counsel, as God no doubt but will bless and prosper your honest labours and endeavours: and therefore in all respects I do not see but you have done marvellously, discreetly and advisedly, and no doubt but it gives all parties good content, I mean that are reasonable and honest men, such as make conscience in giving the best satisfaction they are able for their debt, and that regard not their own particular so much as the accomplishing of that good end for which this business was first intended.

* The word "Denn.is" was written before John in a different hand.

Sir, for our business I shall refer you to our general letter, which way of advice I would entreat you to use and write a general letter, naming therein Mr. Beauchamp, Mr. Andrews, and Mr. Hatherly with myself, though, this time, they did not, nay, Mr. Hatherly would but could not write to you. Sir, I must of force break off. My wife desires to be remembered to you and yours, and I think she hath put up a small token (as a pair of stockings) for you; thus desiring the Lord to bless and prosper you, and all your, and our honest endeavours, I ever rest

Your unfeigned, and ever loving friend,
JAMES SHIRLEY.

March 8, Anno 1629.

P. S. Mr. Bradford, give me leave to put you in mind of one thing; here are many of your Leyden people now come over, and though I have ever had good thoughts of them, yet believe not every one, what they shall report of Mr. Allerton; he hath been a trusty honest friend to you all, either there or here: And if any do (as I know some of them are apt to speak ill of him) believe them not. Indeed they have been unreasonably chargeable, yet grudge and are not contended: Verily their indiscreet carriage here hath so abated my affection towards them, as were Mrs. Robinson well over, I would not disburse one penny for the rest.

This offence was given by some of them, which redounded to the prejudice of the whole; and indeed our friends which sent this latter company were to blame; for they now sent all the weakest and poorest, without any of note and better discretion and government amongst them, contrary to our minds and advice; for they thought, if these were got over, the other might come when they would; but partly this distaste, but especially the great charge, which both these companies came to, coming so near together, put a bar in the way: for though this company were the fewer in number, yet their charge came to an 100l more. And notwithstanding this indiscretion, yet they were such as feared God, and were to us both welcome and useful, for the most part; they were also kept at our charge eighteen months, and all new appareled and all other charges defrayed.

Another of Mr. SHIRLEY'S, to our worthy and beloved friends Mr. WILLIAM BRADFORD Governour, and the rest of our loving partners, these, at Plymouth in New England.

MOST worthy and loving friends Mr. Bradford, Mr. Brewster, Captain Standish, and Mr. Winslow, with the rest; you may marvel I join you all in one letter, having many letters from you: But Mr. Allerton may make excuse for me in this particular; it is true I have had some of your letters in July and some since by Mr. Peirce, but till our main business, the patent, was granted, I could not set my mind nor pen to writing; and Mr. Allerton was so turmoiled about it, and found so many difficulties and oppositions, as verily I would not, nay, could not, have undergone it, if I might have had a thousand pounds; but the Lord so blessed his labours (even beyond expectation in these evil days) as he obtained love and favour of great men in repute and place; he got granted from the Earl of Warwick and Sir Ferdinando Gorges all Mr. Winslow desired in his letters to me, and more also, which I leave him to relate: Then he sued to the King to confirm their grant and to make you a Corporation, and so to enable you to make and execute laws in such large and ample manner, as the Salem or Massachusetts plantation hath it, which the King graciously granted, referring it to the Lord Keeper to give order to the solicitor to to draw it up, if there were a precedent for it; so the Lord Keeper (the best of his rank) furthered it all he could, and also the solicitor; but as Festus said to Paul, with no small sum obtained I this freedom, for by the way there were many riddles which must be resolved, and many locks must be opened with the silver, nay, the golden key; then it was to come to the Lord Treasurer, to have his warrant for freeing the custom for a certain time; but he would not do it but referred it to the Council Table, and there Mr. Allerton attended, day by day, that they sat, and made great means and friends, both of Lords and secretaries, for the furtherance of it, but they were so full of other great matters, as he could not get his, or rather Mr. Bradford's petition read, and (by reason of Mr. Peirce, his being and staying with all the passengers at Bristol, even ready to set sail, and the wind good) he was forced to leave the further tending and prosecuting of it to a solicitor, and come for Bristol; but there is no fear nor doubt but it will be granted; for he hath the chief of them to friend; yet it will be marvellous needful for him to return by the first ships that come from thence, for if you had this granted, then were you complete, and might bear such sway and government, as were fit for your rank and place that God hath called you unto, and stop the mouths of base and scurrilous fellows, that are ready to question and threaten you in every action you do: And besides, if you have the custom free for seven years inward and twenty-one years outward, the charge of the patent will soon be recovered, and there is no fear of obtaining it; only such things must work by degrees, men cannot hasten it as they would; wherefore we (I write here, in the behalf of all our partners) desire you to be earnest with Mr. Allerton, and with his wife here to come, and she to spare him this one year (nay I hope but a few months more) to finish this great and weighty business, which we conceive will be much for your good and well and sure subsisting, yea, and I hope for your posterity, and for many generations to come; for I am persuaded Sir Ferdinando (how loving and friendly soever he seems to be) knows he can, nay, purposeth to overthrow, at his pleasure, all the patents he grants, but, this being obtained, he will be frustrate of his intent; and unless a Parliament should call them in (which is not likely) you need not fear, as Mr. Allerton can further certify you, and so much for this *costly and tedious business; now I see what most of your letters signify unto me, concerning the contracting of ourselves into a fewer number for the managing of our business and paying of our debts, which I confess are great and needful to be carefully considered of; and no doubt but we, joining in love, may soon overcome them, but we must follow it roundly and to purpose, for if we piddle out the time in our trade, others will step in and nose us; but we know and consider you have that acquaintance and experience as none the like in the country; wherefore, loving friends and partners, be no ways discouraged with the greatness of the debt (of which I refer you to the accounts, being the only cause of my being at Bristol, and, if time permit and God enable me, shall be brought in some good and plain form) let us not fulfil the proverb, bestow twelve pence on a purse, and put sixpence in it; but as you and we have been at great charge, and undergone much for settling of you there, and to gain experience; so, as God shall please to enable us, let us make use of it and not think with 50l. a year sent you over, to raise such means as to pay our debts.† We see a possibility of good, if you be well supplied and fully furnished, and chiefly, if you do lovingly, and as you do (and well you do) profess to be brethren, so say as Abraham said to Lot, let there be no contention because we are brethren: I know I write to godly, wise, and understanding men, such as have learned to bear one another's infirmities and rejoice at any one's prosperity; and if I were able I would press this the more, because it is hoped by some of your and our enemies, that you will fall out amongst yourselves and so overthrow our hopeful business; nay, I have heard it credibly reported, that some have said that till you be disjointed, by discontents and factions amongst yourselves, it boots not for any to go over, in hope of getting or doing good in these parts; but we hope better things of you, and that you will not only bear with one another, and persuade, and that effectually, one another to the contrary, but that you will banish such thoughts, and not suffer them to lodge in your breasts; it is certain offences will come, but wo unto them, by whom they come, and blessed is the peace maker; which blessedness I know you all desire, and God grant you may disappoint the hopes of your foes and procure the hearty desire of yourselves and friends in this particular. I am further to acquaint you that we have sent you a large supply for your magazine, or trade, and also that we have thought good to join with one Edward Ashley (a man I think whom most of you know) but it is only of that place whereof he hath a patent, in Mr. Beauchamp's name; and to that end have furnished him with large provisions; now if you please to be partners with us in this, we are willing you shall, for after we understood how willing and forward, Bristol men, and, as I hear, some able men of his own kindred have been, to stock and supply him, hoping of profit, we thought fit for us to lay hold of such an opportunity, and a kind of running plantation, rather than other who have not borne the burden of settling a plantation, as we have done; and he, on the other side, like an understanding young man, thought it better to join with those that had means by a plantation, to supply and back him there, rather than strangers, that look but only after profit: Indeed the Salem partners here, as Mr. Humfries, Mr. Johnson; but chiefly Mr. Cradock and Mr. Winthrop, would fain have joined with him, and, when that could not be, with us, in that business; but we not willing, and they failing they said he would strip them of all trade in those parts; and therefore they so crossed him and us in the taking of the patent, as we could not have it, but to join their name with ours in it, though Knights, and men of good rank and near the King, spake in his behalf; and this I conceive they did only to bring it to pass, that they might join with us: Now it is not known that you are partners with him, or you and we joined partners with him, but only we four, Mr. Andrews, Mr. Beauchamp, and myself and Mr. Hatherley, who desired to have the patent in consideration of our great loss we have already sustained in settling of the first plantation there; so in conclusion we agree together to take it in both our names. And now as I said before, if you please to join with us, we are willing you should partake with us in the profits, if it please God to send any: Mr. Allerton had no power from you to make this new contract, neither was he willing to do anything therein without your consent and approbation. Mr. William Peirce is joined with us in this, and we thought it very convenient because of landing Edward Ashley and his goods there, if it please God, wind and weather serving, as I hope it will, and he will bend his course accordingly; he hath a new boat hence with him and boards to make another; and as I think four or five lusty fellows, whereof one is a carpenter: Now in case you are not willing to join in this particular with us, fearing the charge and doubting the success, yet thus much we would entreat of you to afford him all the help you can either by men, commodities or boats, yet not but that he will pay you for any thing that he hath; for I will and so desire you to keep the accounts apart, though you join with us; because there is (as you see) other partners in this, than in the other; so, for all men's wages, boats hire, or commodities which he shall have of you, make him debtor for it, and what you shall have of him, make the plantation or yourselves, debtors for it to him; and so there need be no mingling of the accounts. And now loving friends and partners, if you join in Edward Ashley's patent and business (as I cannot see but it is for your good to do) though we have laid out the money and taken up much to stock this business and the other, yet I think it conscionable and reasonable that you should bear your shares and proportion of the stock, if not by present money yet by securing us, for so much as it shall come to; for it is not barely the interest that is to be allowed, and considered of but the adventure; though I hope by the blessing of God and your honest endeavours, it may soon be payed; the years that this partnership holds is not long nor many, let all therefore lay it to heart, and make the best use of the time that possibly we can; and let every man set too his shoulder and the burden will be the lighter, for though some speak or write not of it, but are contented to do as I do, and wholly rely on me, yet I would be loath they should think themselves hardly dealt with all; but I know you are so honest and conscionable men, as you will take it into consideration and return such answer as may give good satisfaction; there is none of us would have ventured as we do, were it not to strengthen, settle, and do you good, more than our own particular profit: Mr. Fogge, Mr. Coalson, and Mr. Thomas, though they seemed earnest to be partners, yet when they saw the debt and charge fell themselves off, and left you, us, and the business; but some though honest, yet I think they minded their own particular profit so much, as both you and we may be glad we are rid of them: For Mr. Collier verily I could have wished it would have sorted with his other affairs, to have been one of us, but he could not spare money, and we thought it not reasonable to take in any partner, unless he were willing and able to spare money, and to lay down his portion of the stock; however, account of him as a sure friend, both ready and willing to do you all the offices of a firm friend. There is no possibility of doing any good in buying the debt for the purchase, I know some will not rebate the interest, and therefore let it run its course, they are to be paid yearly, and so I hope they shal. according to the agreement. I have much more to write but want time, and so must be forced abruptly to break off, desiring the Lord to bless you, and us all, and all our honest endeavours, and grant that our loves and affections, may still be united and knit together in the Lord; and so we rest your ever loving friends,

* It was costly indeed, in the conclusion.

† Here the sum of the debts and other things were blotted out again.

JAMES SHIRLEY,
TIMOTHY HATHERLEY.

SAMUEL HATCH'S WILL AND INVENTORY AND THE EXECUTOR'S ACCOUNT

Transcribed from the Original Documents

By George Ernest Bowman

Samuel Hatch of Scituate married Mary[2] Doty (Edward[1]) of Marshfield, as shown in an earlier volume of this magazine.* His will was dated 13 June, 1728, and proved 7 July, 1735. The original will, inventory and executor's account are still preserved in the files of the Plymouth County Registry of Probate. All three were recorded in Volume VII, pages 143–146, of the Plymouth County Probate Records, but the copies here presented were made from the originals, which are in excellent condition.

THE ESTATES OF WILLIAM[2] MULLINS AND HIS DAUGHTER SARAH[3] (MULLINS) (GANNETT) (SAVILL) FAXON AND OF HER THREE HUSBANDS

Transcribed from the Original Documents and Records

By George Ernest Bowman

William[2] Mullins (William[1]) came to Plymouth Colony some time after his father's death, and his daughter Sarah[3] Mullins married successively Thomas Gannett of Duxbury and Bridgewater, William Savill of Braintree and Thomas Faxon of Braintree, surviving the latter seventeen years. The documents and records relating to the estates of these five persons require so much space it has seemed best to print a part of them in this issue and give the remainder, with the notes on the whole, in the April issue.

REPORTS FROM STATE SOCIETIES

MASSACHUSETTS SOCIETY

THE forty-third meeting of the Society was held at the Hotel Vendome, Boston, on Thursday afternoon, October 27, 1904. Hon. Solon W. Stevens, of Lowell, Mass., read a paper on "The Pilgrims, the Foundation Builders of the Republic." Miss Lois D. McCobb sang several selections and Miss Irene Stimpson gave several selections on the piano. The usual informal reception followed.

The Ninth Annual Reception and Dinner of the Massachusetts Society was held at the Hotel Vendome, Boston, on Monday evening, November 21, 1904. The guests of the evening were Amory H. Bradford, D.D., of Montclair, N. J., William E. Huntington, LL.D., President of Boston University, Samuel B. Capen, LL.D., Governor General of the Society of Mayflower Descendants, Reuen Thomas, D.D., of Brookline, Mr. Gamaliel Bradford and Myles Standish, M.D., the first and second Governors of the Massachusetts Society of Mayflower Descendants.

After the members and their friends had been presented to Governor and Mrs. Charles A. Hopkins and the invited guests, dinner was served. The after-dinner exercises were opened as usual by a toast to our Pilgrim Ancestors and the reading of "The Compact" by Governor Hopkins. The speakers were Governor General Capen, President Huntington, Rev. Dr. Bradford, and former Governors Bradford and Standish. A congratulatory telegram from the Ohio Society was read, and Leonard Bacon's hymn, "O God, beneath thy guiding hand, our exiled fathers crossed the sea," was sung.

Through the courtesy of Messrs. John A. Lowell & Co., Marshall Johnson's painting of "The Mayflower" occupied a prominent position, and during the exercises the Secretary read a letter from Mr. John A. Lowell, who was unable to be present, presenting the picture to the Massachusetts Society, stating that he would deliver the picture to the Society as soon as the steel engraving was completed.

PILGRIM NOTES AND QUERIES

NOTES

HALIFAX, MASS., VITAL RECORDS. The work of copying the Halifax records will be completed by the time this note is before our readers, and we would urge upon their attention the importance of issuing the printed volume as early as possible. The book cannot be issued until the funds in the hands of the Society are sufficient to cover all expenses. In addition to the cash contributions received, there are pledges contingent on the raising of the whole sum before May 1, 1905, so that we need but $300 more to issue this book with all bills paid. Every gift, no matter how small, will help us to secure the amount conditionally pledged. Advance subscriptions accompanied by a remittance will also aid in raising the necessary amount.

The installments of the Halifax records which have been printed in this magazine form but a very small portion, probably less than ten per cent, of the whole; and it should be especially noted that the oldest birth and marriage records are at the end of the first book. The oldest birth recorded is about 1703, and the oldest marriage about 1735. If the publication of these records were limited to the space available in this magazine, these oldest records could not be reached for at least a year. A small portion of the Halifax records will be given in our April, 1905, issue, but after that date the records of this town will not be continued in "The Mayflower Descendant."

The records are kept in an old-fashioned iron safe in the town hall, which was erected as a church in 1733, and if a fire should start in the building, which contains also a school and the town library, the records would certainly be destroyed.

After the book is published and the bills paid, all receipts from sales will be turned into the Old Colony Town Record Fund, to aid in the publication of the vital records of other Plymouth County towns. The book will be sent to any address, postage prepaid, on receipt of $2.00. Contributions to the Fund and orders for copies of the book should be addressed to the Editor of this magazine.

TRURO, MASS., VITAL RECORDS. In addition to the contributions to the Cape Cod Town Record Fund, noted elsewhere, we have two pledges, one of $25 and one of $200, which are conditioned on the raising, before July 1, 1905, of an additional sum of $750, which will enable this Society to issue the volume of Truro records with all bills paid, and return to the Fund all receipts from future sales, to assist in printing the records of other Cape Cod towns. The Society is not in a position to print this volume of between 450 and 500 pages and await the slow returns from sales. Therefore it is of the greatest importance that the remaining $750 should be raised at once.

The Society has had a literal copy of these records for some time, and, as gifts of money are received, portions of this copy are being put into type. Every contributor will therefore have the satisfaction of knowing that his gift is of immediate use and will hasten the publication of these exceedingly valuable records, which cover the years from 1702 to 1850. Even the smallest gifts will be gratefully received, yet it is hoped that some of the prosperous descendants of Cape Cod ancestry will give liberally, remembering that by assisting in the publication of the Truro records they will hasten the publication of the records of the other Cape Cod towns. If the necessary amount is raised by July 1, 1905, the book will be issued early in the fall.

Advance subscriptions for copies of the book, if accompanied by a remittance of the price, which will be $3.00, will assist in making up the required amount. All communications and orders should be addressed to the Editor of this magazine.

CAPE COD TOWN RECORD FUND. (To be used in printing literal copies of records of Barnstable County towns.) Contributions received: Mr. Edward L. Norton, $4.00; Mr. Stanley W. Smith, $25.00; Mr. Frank A. Munsey, $100.00.

OLD COLONY TOWN RECORD FUND. (To be used in printing literal copies of records of Plymouth County towns.) Contributions received: Mr. Henry N. Fairbanks, $5.00; General Adelbert Ames, $10.00; Mrs. George W. Copeland, $10.00; Mr. George Ernest Bowman, receipts from sales of Freeman Genealogies and Bowman's Ancestral Charts donated, $100.00.

CAPT. SAMUEL[3] ALDEN (David[2], John[1]). The following foot-note is found on the thirty-second page of "A Sermon, preached at Plymouth, December 22d, 1773. Being the Anniversary Thanksgiving, in Commemoration of the Landing of the Fathers there, A.D. 1620. By Charles Turner, A.M. Pastor of the Church in Duxbury." A copy of this sermon, printed at Boston in 1774, is in the library of Mrs. Lucy Hall Greenlaw, who has kindly allowed us to copy from it.

"Capt. Samuel Alden, grandson to Mr. John Alden, who was one of the signers of the covenant at Cape-Cod harbor, and was, for many years, chosen an assistant in the government of New-Plymouth, is now living in Duxbury, aged 85. His father, deacon David Alden, arrived to the age of 73. And his grandfather lived 88 years. He has a sister, now living as I suppose, in Barnstable county, whose age is equal to that of her grandfather."

QUERIES

SPECIAL NOTICE. Queries will be accepted which relate to any person or family in the territory included in Plymouth, Barnstable and Bristol Counties, or which relate to any descendants of Mayflower passengers wherever located.

Members of the Massachusetts Society, Contributors to its Funds for Publication and Research, and Subscribers to the MAYFLOWER DESCENDANT will be allowed to insert a limited number of queries, without charge.

Any person not included in one of the three classes mentioned may insert queries of thirty words or less on payment (strictly in advance) of twenty-five cents. An extra charge of ten cents will be made for each additional ten words or fraction of ten words.

50. COBB–FULLER. Who were the parents of Hannah Cobb of Barnstable, born March 10, 1753, died at Readfield (now Manchester), Maine, Oct. 16, 1816, married Oct. 22, 1772, to Francis Fuller, born at Barnstable March 10, 1749, died at Vassalboro, Maine, May 23, 1844? W. F. D.

51. SNOW–TAYLOR. Who were the parents of Rebecca Snow who married Mathias Taylor, 11 July, 1786, according to Harwich, Mass., records? W. B. H.

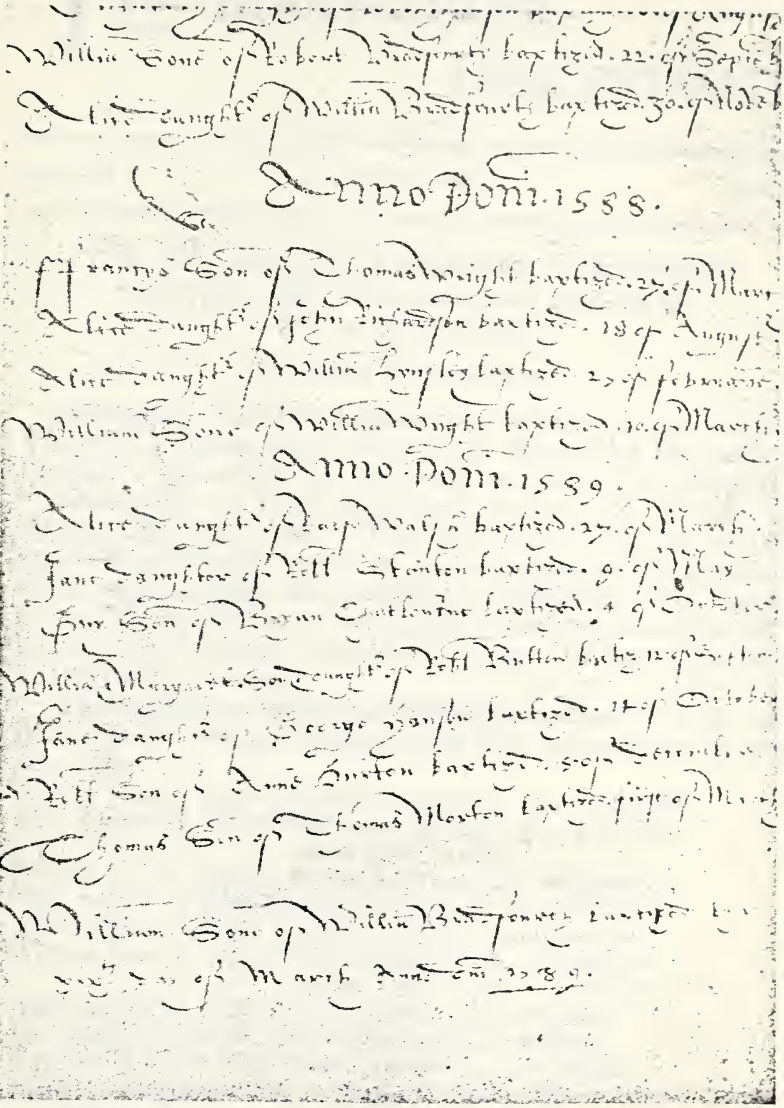
52. RING–CUSHMAN. Who were the parents of Ruth Ring who, according to the Cushman Genealogy, married in 1783 Thomas Cushman of Plympton, Mass., and Alfred, Me.? C. L. C.

53. WHITE–COLE. Who were the parents of Sarah White who married, about 1745, James Cole (born 1716) of Scituate? E. E. C.

54. SNOW–SEARS. Who were the parents of Reuben Snow of Hardwick and Greenwich, Mass., who died at Greenwich, 5 April, 1814, in his seventy-fourth year? He married, in 1769, Mercy, the daughter of Roland Sears of Hardwick.

ANSWER TO QUERY

49. MAYO. We would call attention to the partial answer to this query which is found in the article "A Deed from Samuel and Hannah Tucker and Thankful Mayo to Eleazer Ring," printed in Volume VI, page 95. The given name of Elizabeth (Ring) Mayo's husband is still desired.



THE RECORD OF GOVERNOR BRADFORD'S BAPTISM

THE RECORD OF GOVERNOR BRADFORD'S BAPTISM, ON THE PARISH REGISTER AT AUSTERFIELD

By George Ernest Bowman

Governor William Bradford was born at Austerfield, Yorkshire, England, and in the Parish Register of St. Helen's Church is preserved the following record of his baptism: "William Sone of Willia Bradfourth baptized the xixth day of March Anno dm . 1589." This entry is the last one on the page of the register shown in the accompanying illustration, which is taken from the pamphlet "Austerfield: The Cradle of the Pilgrim Fathers. An Appeal to the American People," issued by the English committee in charge of the restoration of the church in 1897.

The illustration shows the following baptismal records besides that of Governor Bradford, the first two evidently in the year 1587:

"Willia Sone of Robert Bradfourth baptized . 22 . of Septeb
Alice daught^{r} of Willia Bradfourth baptized . 30 . of Noveb
Anno Dom . 1588.
ffrancys Son of Thomas Wright baptized . 27 . of March
Alice daught^{r} of John Richardson baptized . 18 of August.
Alice daught^{r} of Willia Lynsley baptized . 25 of februarie.
William Sone of Willia Wright baptized . 10 . of March.
Anno . Dom . 1589.
Alice daught^{r} of Ralfe Walsh baptized . 27 . of March.
Jane daughter of Robt Stanton baptized . 9 . of May Guy Son of Bryan Chatbourne baptized . 4 . of October.
Willia & Margaret . Son & daught^{r} of Robt Button baptiz . 12 . of Septem
Jane daught^{r} of George Hanson baptized . 14 of October
Robt Son of Anne Hurton baptized . 5 of december.
Thomas Son of Thomas Morton baptized . first of March"

In examining these records it is necessary to bear constantly in mind that the dates are in "old style" and that when they were written the year began on the twenty-fifth of March and ended on the twenty-fourth of the following March. This is well illustrated by the following baptisms: Francis Wright was baptized 27 March, 1588, which was the third day of that year; and, nearly a year later, William Wright was baptized, on 10 March, 1588, which was just two weeks from the end of the same "old style" year. Seventeen days after William Wright's baptism, and in the same month, but in the next year, 1589, Alice Walsh was baptized, on 27 March, 1589.

William Bradford was baptized 19 March, 1589, old style, or 29 March, 1590, according to our present calendar; and since it was at that period customary to baptize infants within a very few days of their birth it is safe to assume that he was born in the month of March, 1590, new style, and was, therefore, aged sixty-seven years and nearly two months when he died at Plymouth on Saturday, 19 May, 1657 (new style), just sixty-seven years, one month and twenty days after he was baptized.

Among the baptisms on the page illustrated we find two others which deserve attention — those of William Button and William Wright. I have not been able to identify these two as the William Button, Dr. Samuel Fuller's servant, who died on the Mayflower before she arrived at Cape Cod, and the William Wright who died at Plymouth in 1633; but it is interesting to note that Governor Bradford, Dr. Fuller and William Wright of Plymouth married sisters.

THE SETTLEMENT OF NATHANIEL² SOULE'S ESTATE

Transcribed from the Original Documents and Records

By George Ernest Bowman

Nathaniel² Soule (*George*¹) of Dartmouth died intestate and his widow Rose was appointed administratrix. Her appointment was not recorded, but her bond, dated 12 October, 1699, is still preserved in the Bristol County, Mass., Registry of Probate. The only other original papers in the files relating to this estate are the inventory, which was not recorded, and the account of the administratrix. The latter document was recorded in Volume II, page 47, of the probate records, and the division of the personal estate on pages 56 and 57 of the same volume.

It probably is merely a curious coincidence that the wife of Nathaniel² Soule should be named Rose and that their fourth son should bear the name of Miles, as I have found no evidence that Capt. Standish had either a daughter or a granddaughter named Rose. I have been unable to get any clue to the maiden name of Nathaniel² Soule's wife.

[The Bond of the Administratrix *]

Know all men by these presents that we Rose Soul of Dartmouth in the County of Bristoll in the Province of the Masachusett Bay in New-England widow & Relict of Nathaniel Soul late of said Dartmouth Deceased and Joseph Allen & Natheniel Soul Both of said Dartmouth Do stand Bounden unto John Saffin Esq[r] Judge of Probate of wills &c : within the County of Bristoll in the full sum of three Hundred & Sixty pounds Currant Silver money in New England afores[d] To be payd to him the said John Saffin or Successor in said office To which Payment well & truely to be made we bind our selves & Either of us by him self Joyntly & Severally for & in the whole our & Either & Every of our heires Executors & Adm[rs] firmly by these presents Dated in Bristoll this twelveth day of october Ano Domini 1699 & in the Eleventh year of his Majestyes Reigne

THUS it appears that our debts were now grown great bout the coming over of these two companies of the Leyden eople, and the large expenses about the patents, which indeed roved to be large and excessive, when we saw them: About is business of Ashley's we were forced to join in it, though e did not much like it (for the person's sake whom we feared as a knave) for if we should have furnished him with commodities and assistance, it would much have hindered our own ade; and if we should have denied this their request, we ould have lost the favour of such good friends; so we thought the safest way to join with them herein, according to their ffer, though we ran a great hazard. This last company of our iends came at such a time of the year, as we were fain to eep them eighteen months at our charge ere they could reap ıy harvest to live upon; all which together, fell heavy upon s and made the burthen greater; that if it had not been God's ercy, it is a wonder we had not sunk under it, especially other ings occuring, whereby we were greatly crossed in our supies for trade, by which these sums should have been repaid. Vith this latter company of our brethren, came over many orthy and able men into the country (or rather ours with em) amongst whom was that worthy and godly gentleman, r. John Winthrop, Governour of the Massachusetts; and so egan the plantations there, which have since much grown and creased under his godly, able, and prudent government, and e church of God, especially, to the rejoicing of our, and the earts of all good men; of whose beginnings and proceedings mething may be gathered by a letter or two of some of our vn, who were then there by occasion, which follow:

letter to myself, from SAMUEL FULLER, being (at this time) in the bay of Massachusetts.

SIR,

THE gentlemen here lately come over (as I suppose you nderstand of their arrival ere this, by Jonathan Brewster) are solved to sit down at the head of Charles river, and they of *Matapan purpose to go and plant with them. I have been at Matapan, at the request of Mr. Warham, and let some twenty of these people blood; I had conference with them, till I was weary. Mr. Warham holds that the visible church may consist of a mixed people, godly, and openly ungodly; upon which point we had all our conference, to which, I trust, the Lord will give a blessing. Here is come over, with these gentlemen, one Mr. Phillips (a Suffolk man) who hath told me in private, that if they will have him stand minister, by that calling which he received from the prelates in England, he will leave them: The Governour is a godly, wise, and humble gentleman, and very discreet, and of a fine and good temper. We have some privy enemies in the bay (but blessed be God) more friends; the Governour hath had conference with me, both in private and before sundry others; opposers there is not wanting, and satan is busy; but if the Lord be on our side who can be against us; the Governour hath told me he hoped we will not be wanting in helping them, so that I think you will be sent for: Here is a gentleman, one Mr. Cottington, a Boston man, who told me, that Mr. Cotton's charge at Hampton was, that they should take advice of them at Plymouth, and should do nothing to offend them: Captain Endicott (my dear friend, and a friend to us all) is a second Burrow; the Lord establish him, and us all in every good way of truth: Other things I would have writ of but time prevents me; again I may be with you before this letter; remember me unto God in your prayers, and so I take my leave, with my loving salutations to yourself and all the rest.

Yours in the Lord Christ,
SAMUEL FULLER.

Massachusetts, June 28, Anno 1630.

To our loving brethren and christian friends Mr. William Bradford, Mr. Ralph Smith, and Mr. William Brewster, these be.

Beloved, &c.

Being at Salem the 25th of July, being the Sabbath, after the evening exercise Mr. Johnson having received a letter from the Governour, Mr. Winthrop, manifesting the hand of God to be upon them, and against them, at Charlestown, in visiting them with sickness and taking divers from amongst them, not sparing the righteous, but partaking with the wicked

* Since called Dorchester.

in those bodily judgments, it was therefore by his desire, taken into the godly consideration of the best here, what was to be done to pacify the Lord's wrath; and they would do nothing without our advice, I mean those members of our church, there known unto them, viz. Mr. Fuller Mr. Allerton and myself, requiring our voices, as their own, when it was concluded, that the Lord was to be sought in righteousness; and so to that end the sixth day (being Friday) of this present week is set apart, that they may humble themselves before God, and seek him in his ordinances; and that then also such godly persons that are amongst them and known each to other, publicly at the end of their exercise, make known their godly desire, and practice the same, viz. solemnly to enter into covenant with the Lord to walk in his ways; and since they are so disposed of in their outward estates, as to live in three distinct places, each having men of ability amongst them, there to observe the day, and become three distinct bodies; not then intending rashly to proceed to the choice of officers, or the admitting of any other into their society than a few, to wit, such as are well known unto them, promising after to receive in such, by confession, as shall appear to be fitly qualified for that estate; and, as they desired to advise with us, so do they earnestly entreat that the church at Plymouth would set apart the same day, for the same ends, beseeching God as to withdraw his hand of correction, so to establish and direct them in his ways; and though the time be very short, yet since the causes are so urgent, we pray you be provoked to this godly work, wherein God will be honoured, and they and we undoubtedly have sweet comfort in so doing: Be you all kindly saluted in the Lord, together with the rest of our brethren: The Lord be with you and his spirit direct you, in this and all other actions that concern his glory and the good of his:

Your brethren in the faith of Christ,
And fellowship of the gospel, SAMUEL FULLER,
Salem July 26, Anno 1630. EDWARD WINSLOW.

To his loving friend, Mr. WILLIAM BRADFORD, Governour of Plymouth, these.

SIR,

THERE is come hither a ship (with cattle, and more passengers) on Saturday last; which brings this news out of England; that the plague is sore, both in the city and country, and that the University of Cambridge is shut up by reason thereof;

also, that there is like to be a great dearth in the land by reason of a dry season. The Earl of Pembroke is dead, and Bishop Laud is Chancellor of Oxford; and that five sundry ministers are to appear before the High Commission, amongst whom, Mr. Cotton, of Boston, is one. The sad news here is, that many are sick, and many are dead, the Lord in mercy look upon them! Some are here entered into a church covenant, the first four, namely, the Governour, Mr. John Winthrop, Mr. Johnson, Mr. Dudley, and Mr. Willson; since that, five more are joined unto them, and others it is like will add themselves to them daily. The Lord increase them, both in number and holiness, for his mercy's sake. I here but lose time and long to be at home, I can do them no good, for I want drugs, and things fitting to work with: I purpose to be at home this week (if God permit) and Mr. Johnson, and Captain Endicott will come with me; and upon their offer, I requested the Governour to bear them company, who is desirous to come, but saith he cannot be absent two hours. Mrs. Cottington is dead. Here are divers honest christians that are desirous to see us; some out of love, which they bear to us, and the good persuasion they have of us; others to see whether we be so evil, as they have heard of us. We have a name of love and holiness to God and his saints; the Lord make us answerable and that it may be more than a name, or else it will do us no good. Be you lovingly saluted, and my sisters, with Mr. Brewster, and Mr. Smith, and all the rest of our friends. The Lord Jesus bless us and the whole Israel of God. Amen.

Your loving brother in law,

Charlestown, August 2, Anno 1630. SAMUEL FULLER.

But this worthy gentleman, Mr. Johnson, was prevented of his journey, for shortly after he fell sick and died, whose loss was great and much bewailed.

THE SETTLEMENT OF COL. BENJAMIN CHURCH'S ESTATE*

Transcribed from the Original Documents and Records,

By George Ernest Bowman

Col. Benjamin Church, the famous Indian fighter, was the son of Richard and Elizabeth (Warren) Church and the grandson of Richard Warren of the Mayflower. Col. Church married Alice, the daughter of Constant Southworth, who survived him a little more than a year. He died at Little Compton on 17 January, 1717/18, in the seventy-eighth year of his age, according to his gravestone and the account in the "Boston News-Letter." He left no will and his widow was appointed administratrix on 5 March, 1717/18. The settlement of the estate was recorded in the Bristol County Probate Records at Taunton, Mass., Little Compton being at that time a part of Massachusetts.

The original papers now in the probate files are the bond of the administratrix, the inventory, the consent of the heirs to the sale of land to defray expenses, and the bond of Martha Church, widow of the son Edward, as guardian of her children.

It is a curious fact that, although Martha Church did not sign the original document consenting to the sale of land, her name appears in the record found in Volume III, page 384, where it was interlined after the other names had been recorded.

The inventory was recorded in Volume III, page 381, and the consent to the sale of land was recorded on page 384, but the original documents have been used in making the transcript for the printer.

[Bond of Administratrix]

The original bond of the administratrix is in the probate files. It is on a printed form and is dated 5 March, 1717/18. "Allice Church widow Relict of Coll° Benjamin Church Late of Little Compton Esq^r^ Deceased Thomas Church Constant Church & Charles Church all sons of the said Deceased and liveing in the County of Bristol" were the principal and sureties, and the amount of the bond was £1500. The widow signed by her mark; the sons all wrote their names. The witnesses were Samuel Gallup and Joshua Bailey.

THE WILL AND INVENTORY OF JOHN DREW, SENIOR, OF HALIFAX, MASS.*

Transcribed from the Original Records,

By George Ernest Bowman

John Drew of Halifax, Mass., was born at Plymouth on 29 August, 1676.† He married Sarah Delano, the daughter of Dr. Thomas Delano ‡ and granddaughter of John Alden, but the date of the marriage has not been ascertained. He died at Halifax, probably not long before 10 July, 1745, the date on which his will was probated. His widow was living 15 May, 1746, when she made oath to the inventory.

The will is recorded in the Plymouth County Probate Records, Volume IX, pages 506 to 508, and the inventory is found in Volume X, page 163. The original documents have disappeared from the files.

PILGRIM NOTES AND QUERIES

Notes

The Mayflower Marriage Records at Leyden and Amsterdam. Beginning with our next issue we shall present in each number a full-page half-tone reproduction of a portion of the records at Leyden and Amsterdam, showing the record of the marriage of one of the Mayflower Passengers. While in Leyden a few weeks since, Mr. Morton Dexter, at the request of the Editor, arranged for the photographing of these records, at the expense of the Foreign Research Fund, and personally supervised the work, making a special trip to Amsterdam to get the record there which shows the autographs of William Bradford and Dorothy May. Mr. Dexter has also kindly furnished us with copies of the Dutch entries and with translations, both of which will be printed with the illustrations.

Every known record of the marriage of a Mayflower Passenger in Holland is included in this series, which will doubtless prove of the greatest interest to our readers.

EATON–CROSSMAN–BUMPUS. Samuel[2] Eaton's widow Martha married, second, soon after 7 December, 1687, Robert Crossman of Taunton. She was then living at Bristol, possibly with her daughter Sarah, who had married Philip Bumpus. The records proving these marriages will be printed in an early issue of this magazine. The discovery of these two marriages encourages us to hope that eventually we may learn the surname of Samuel[2] Eaton's first wife, Elizabeth ——, and the given names of her married daughters, also the names of their husbands. [See Vol. II, p. 172.]

HALIFAX, MASS., VITAL RECORDS. At the time of writing this note we need about $150 more to cover the expense of publishing the Halifax Vital Records. It is estimated that the book will contain about 200 pages, and the price has been fixed at $2.00 per copy, postage prepaid. A considerable portion of the book is already in type and it is hoped that the amount needed to complete the work will be received very soon, either in gifts or in advance subscriptions for copies of the book.

OLD COLONY TOWN RECORD FUND. (To be used in printing literal copies of records of Plymouth County towns.) Contributions received: Mr. Edward T. Barker, $2.00; Mrs. Henry F. Dimock, $10.00: Mrs. Ira H. Evans, $25.00; Mr. Frank F. Stanley, $5.00; Mrs. Cyrus Walker, $50.00.

CAPE COD TOWN RECORD FUND. (To be used in printing literal copies of records of Barnstable County towns.) Contributions received: Mr. Sidney B. Gifford, $10.00; Mr. Theodore S. Lazell, $5.00; Miss Frances H. Tribou, $1.00.

COLONIAL RESEARCH FUND. Contribution received: Brig. Gen. Charles H. Alden, M.D., U.S.A. (Retired), $10.00.

QUERIES

[SPECIAL NOTICE. Queries will be accepted which relate to any person or family in the territory included in Plymouth, Barnstable and Bristol Counties, or to any descendants of the Mayflower Passengers wherever located.

Members of the Massachusetts Society, Contributors to its Funds for Publication and Research, and Subscribers to "The Mayflower Descendant" may insert a limited number of queries without charge.

Any one not included in the three classes mentioned may insert queries of thirty words or less, on payment (strictly in advance) of twenty-five cents for each query. An extra charge of ten cents will be made for each additional ten words or fraction of ten words.]

MARRIAGE RECORD OF DEGORY PRIEST AND ISAAC ALLERTON

THE MAYFLOWER DESCENDANT

Vol. VII JULY, 1905 No. 3

THE MAYFLOWER MARRIAGE RECORDS AT LEYDEN AND AMSTERDAM

DURING the month of February, 1905, the Massachusetts Society's former Governor, Mr. Morton Dexter, at the request of the Editor of this magazine personally supervised the photographing of all the marriage records of Mayflower Passengers which have been found at Leyden and Amsterdam. Mr. Dexter has also furnished us with the copies of the Dutch entries and with the English translations.

The marriage records which have been found are as follows: Isaac Allerton's first marriage; William Bradford's first marriage (both Leyden and Amsterdam records photographed); Francis Cooke's; Dr. Samuel Fuller's second and third marriages; Degory Priest's; William White's; Edward Winslow's first marriage. We shall reproduce at least one of these records, with a copy of the Dutch entry and its translation, in each issue until all have been printed.

I. DEGORY PRIEST AND ISAAC ALLERTON

Perhaps the most interesting record is that of a double marriage at Leyden, of Degory Priest to the widow Sarah (Allerton) Vincent and of the latter's brother, Isaac Allerton, to Mary Norris, which forms the subject of our illustration.*

The banns of these two couples were published on the same days, Saturday, 8, 15 and 22 October, 1611, and they were married on Friday, 4 November, 1611.†

Sarah (Allerton) Vincent was Isaac Allerton's sister. After the death of Degory Priest she married, for her third husband, Godbert Godbertson, whose first marriage was recorded on the same page with Dr. Samuel Fuller's third marriage and will be shown in the reproduction of the latter.

THE ESTATE OF CAPT. EDWARD CHURCH *

Transcribed from the Original Records,

By George Ernest Bowman

Capt. Edward Church of Bristol was the son of Col. Benjamin Church, the settlement of whose estate was printed in our April issue, and the great-grandson of Richard Warren of the Mayflower. He died intestate, probably not long before 19 December, 1706, the day his inventory was taken. Martha (Brenton) Church, his widow, was appointed administratrix on 7 April, 1707, but her appointment was not recorded until February, 1720/1, when it was entered in the third volume of the Bristol County Probate Records, on page 207. The reason for this long delay and for the failure to record the inventory is not apparent. It is evident that when Col. Benjamin's estate was being settled it became necessary for Edward's widow to put on record the fact that she, as administratrix, had the authority to receive her deceased husband's share of his father's property, hence the entry in 1721.

The original inventory and the bond of the administratrix are in the files.

THE SURVIVING CHILDREN OF NATHANIEL[2] WARREN (RICHARD[1]) IN 1690

By George Ernest Bowman

By the terms of the will of Nathaniel[2] Warren (Richard[1]), which was printed in the second volume of this magazine, any part of his real or personal estate remaining at his wife's death was to be equally divided among the surviving children, except that the oldest son was to receive a double share, in accordance with the custom at that time.

The widow, Sarah (Walker) Warren, evidently thought best to have the real estate settled during her lifetime, for, on the ninth of January, 1689/90, she sold to her son James[3] Warren of Plymouth, for a cash payment of £90 and the further payment of £7 per year while she lived, all of her real estate in Plymouth, reserving for her lifetime the use of the little house she then lived in. On the same date her other sons and daughters gave their consent to the sale, having received their portions.

The two conveyances are found in the Plymouth County Records of Deeds, Volume I, pages 201 and 202. The one signed by the brothers and sisters is given in full. Of the deed from Sarah Warren to her son James only the two portions containing information not in the other deed are here given.

These two deeds give us the names of all the children of Nathaniel[2] Warren (Richard[1]) who were living in January, 1690, as follows: James Warren, Richard Warren, Nathaniel Warren, Jabez Warren, Elizabeth (Warren) Green [the widow of William], Sarah (Warren) Blackwell [the widow of John], Alice the wife of Thomas Gibbs, Mercy the wife of Jonathan Delano.

[Sarah Warren to James[3] Warren]

[p. 202] "in Consideration of Seven pounds p[r] year during my naturall life and ninety pounds Currant silver money to me in hand by my son James Warren of y[e] Town aforesaid in y[e] County aforesaid well and truly paid.....

GOVERNOR BRADFORD'S ACCOUNT OF NEW ENGLAND *

[The following lines, having some relation to the soil, the productions and the history of the country are now first printed on that

* These lines (including the introductory note) are reprinted from the "Collections of the Massachusetts Historical Society. For February, 1794." where they follow the concluding portion of Governor Bradford's Letter Book.

account, and not for any poetical beauties to be discovered in them — they may afford some entertainment; and as they seem to be within the views of the Society, they are submitted to the public.]

A Descriptive and Historical Account of New England in verse; from a MS. of William Bradford, Governour of Plymouth Colony.

(A FRAGMENT)

Famine once we had ————————
But other things God gave us in full store,
As fish and ground nuts, to supply our strait,
That we might learn on providence to wait;
And know, by bread man lives not in his need,
But by each word that doth from God proceed.
But a while after plenty did come in,
From his hand only who doth pardon sin.
And all did flourish like the pleasant green,
Which in the joyful spring is to be seen.

Almost ten years we lived here alone,
In other places there were few or none;
For Salem was the next of any fame,
That began to augment New England's name;
But after multitudes began to flow,
More than well knew themselves where to bestow;
Boston then began her roots to spread,
And quickly soon she grew to be the head,
Not only of the Massachusetts Bay,
But all trade and commerce fell in her way.
And truly it was admirable to know,
How greatly all things here began to grow.
New plantations were in each place begun
And with inhabitants were filled soon.
All sorts of grain which our own land doth yield,
Was hither brought, and sown in every field:
As wheat and rye, barley, oats, beans and pease
Here all thrive, and they profit from them raise.
All sorts of roots and herbs in gardens grow,
Parsnips, carrots, turnips, or what you'll sow,
Onions, melons, cucumbers, radishes,
Skirets, beets, coleworts and fair cabbages.
Here grow fine flowers many, and 'mongst those,
The fair white lily and sweet fragrant rose.
Many good wholesome berries here you'll find,
Fit for man's use, almost of every kind,
Pears, apples, cheries, plumbs, quinces and peach,
Are now no dainties; you may have of each.

Nuts and grapes of several sorts are here,
If you will take the pains, them to seek for.

Cattle of every kind do fill the land,
Many now are kill'd and their hides tann'd;
By which men are supply'd with meat and shoes,
Or what they can, though much by wolves they lose.
Here's store of cows, which milk and butter yield,
And also oxen, for to till the field;
Of which great profit many now do make,
If they have a fit place and able pains do take.
Horses here likewise now do multiply,
They prosper well, and yet their price is high.
Here are swine, good store, and some goats do keep,
But now most begin to get store of sheep,
That with their wool their bodies may be clad,
In time of straits, when things cannot be had;
For merchants keep the price of cloth so high,
As many are not able the same to buy.
And happy would it be for people here,
If they could raise cloth for themselves to wear;
And if they do themselves hereto apply,
They would not be so low, nor some so high.
As I look back I cannot but smile,
To think how some did themselves beguile,
When called first, went at so high a rate,
They did not think how soon they might abate;
For many then began to look so high,
Whose hopes, soon after, in the dust did lie.
So vain is man! if riches do abide
A little, he's soon lift up with pride.
A cow then was at twenty pounds and five,
Those who had increase could not choose but thrive;
And a cow calf, ten or twelve pounds would give,
As soon as weaned, if that it did live.
A lamb, or kid was forty shillings price,
Men were earnest for them, lest they should rise.
And a milch goat, was at three or four pound;
All cattle at such prices went off round.
In money and good cloth, they would you pay,
Or what good thing else that you would say.
And both swine and corn was in good request,
To the first comers this was a harvest.

But that which did 'bove all the rest excel,
God in his word, with us he here did dwell;
Well ordered churches, in each place there were,
And a learn'd ministry was planted here.

All marvell'd and said, "Lord this work is thine,
In the wilderness to make such lights to shine."
And truly it was a glorious thing,
Thus to hear men pray, and God's praises sing,
Where these natives were wont to cry and yell
To satan, who 'mongst them doth rule and dwell.
Oh, how great comfort was it now to see,
The churches to enjoy free liberty!
And to have the gospel preach'd here with power,
And such wolves repell'd as would else devour;
And now with plenty their poor souls were fed,
With better food than wheat, or angels' bread,
In green pastures, they may themselves solace,
And drink freely of the sweet springs of grace;
A pleasant banquet, is prepar'd for these,
Of fat things, and rich wine upon the lees;
"Eat O my friends, (saith Christ) and drink freely,
Here's wine and milk, and all sweet spicery;
The honey and its comb, is here to be had,
I myself for you, have this banquet made:
Be not dismayed, but let your heart rejoice
In this wilderness, O let me hear your voice;
My friends you are, whilst you my ways do keep,
Your sins I'll pardon and your good I'll seek."
And they, poor souls, again to Christ do say,
"O Lord thou art our hope, our strength and stay;
Who givest to us, all these thy good things,
Us shelter still, in the shadow of thy wings:
So we shall sing, and laud thy name with praise,
'Tis thine own work, to keep us in thy ways;
Uphold us still, O thou which art most high,
We then shall be kept, and thy name glorify,
Let us enjoy thyself, with these means of grace,
And in our hearts shine, with the light of thy face;
Take not away thy presence, nor thy word,
But we humbly pray, us the same afford."

To the north or south, or which way you'll wind,
Churches now are spread, and you'll pasture find.
Many men of worth, for learning and great fame,
Grave and godly, into these parts here came:
As HOOKER, COTTON, DANFORTH, and the rest,
Whose names are precious and elsewhere express'd;
And many among these, you might soon find,
Who in some things, left not their like behind.
But some of these are dead, and others aged be,
Lord do thou supply, in thy great mercy;
How these their flocks did feed, with painful care,

Their labours, love and fruitful works declare;
They did not spare their time, and lives to spend,
In the Lord's work, unto their utmost end:
And such as still survive do strive the more,
To do like them that have gone before:
Take courage then, for ye shall have reward,
That in this work are faithful to the Lord.
Example take hereby, you that shall come,
In after time when these their race have run.

A prudent Magistracy here was placed,
By which, the Churches defended were and graced;
And this new commonwealth in order held,
And sin, that foul iniquity, was quell'd:
Due, right, and justice, unto all was done,
Without delay, mens suits were ended soon.
Here were men sincere, and upright in heart,
Who, from justice and right would not depart:
Men's causes they would scan and well debate
And all bribes and corruption they did hate;
The truth to find out they would use all means,
And so, for that end, they would spare no pains.
Whilst things thus did flourish and were in their prime,
Men thought it happy and a blessed time;
To see how sweetly all things did agree,
Both in the Church and State, there was amity;
Each to the other mutual help did lend,
And to God's honour all their ways did tend,
In love and peace, his truth for to retain,
And God's service how best for to maintain.
Some of these are gone, others do grow grey,
Which doth show us they have not long to stay:
But God will still, for his people provide,
Such as be able, them to help and guide,
If they cleave to him, and do not forsake
His laws and truth, and their own ways do take.
If thou hast view'd the camp of Israel,
How God in the wilderness with them did dwell;
And led them long in that dangerous place,
Through fears and trials for so long a space;
And yet they never saw more of his glory,
Than in this time where he advanced them high.
His great and marvellous works they here saw,
And he them taught, in his most holy law.
A small emblem hereof thou mayest see,
How God hath dealt with these, in some degree,
For much of himself they now here have seen,
And marvellous to them his works have been.

I am loth indeed to change my theme,
Thus of God's precious mercies unto them,
Yet I must do it, though it is most sad,
And if it prove otherwise I shall be glad.
Methinks I see some great change at hand,
That e're long will fall upon this poor land;
Not only because many are took away,
Of the best rank, but virtue doth decay,
And true godliness doth not now so shine,
As some while it did, in the former time;
But love and fervent zeal do seem to sleep,
Security and the world on men do creep;
Pride and oppression, they do grow so fast,
As that all goodness they will eat out at last.
Whoredom and drunkenness with other sin,
Wilt cause God's judgments soon to break in,
And whimsy errors have now got such a head,
And, under notion of conscience, do spread;
So as whole places with them now are stain'd,
Whereas goodness, sometime before hath reign'd.
Where godliness abates, evil will succeed,
And grow apace like to the noisome weed;
And if there be not care, their growth to stop,
All godliness, it soon will overtop.
Another cause of our declining here,
Is a mixt multitude, as doth appear;
Many for servants, hitherto were brought,
Others came for gain, or worse ends they sought:
And of these, many grew loose and profane,
Though some are brought to know God and his name.
But thus it is, and hath been so of old,
As by the scriptures we are plainly told;
For when, as from Egypt God's people came,
A mixed multitude got in among them,
Who with the rest murmur and lust did they,
In wants, and fell at Kibroth Hatavah.
And whereas the Lord doth sow his good seed,
The enemy; he brings in tares and weed;
What need therefore there is that men should watch,
That satan them not at advantage catch;
For ill manners and example are such,
As others do infect and corrupt much:
Chiefly if they be unstaid and young,
And with all persons do converse among;
Yea some are so wretched and full of vice,
As they take pleasure, others to entice;
And though it be a thing, most vile and bad,
Yet they will do it, and thereat be glad;

And laugh and scoff when any they draw in,
For to do evil, and to commit sin.
But let these, and all profane scoffers know,
That unto God, they do a reckoning owe,
And to account ere long he will them bring,
When they must answer for this, their foul sin.
Was it not enough for them evil to do,
But they must needs cause others do so too?
Herein indeed they act the devil's part,
And if they repent not, with him they'll smart;
For God to such, is a consuming fire,
And they shall perish in his dreadful ire.

But a most desperate mischief here is grown,
And a great shame it is, it should be known:
But why should I conceal so foul a thing,
That, quickly, may our hurt and ruin bring!
For base covetousness hath got such a sway,
As, our own safety, we ourselves betray;
For these fierce natives, they are now so fill'd
With guns and muskets, and in them so skill'd,
As that they may keep the English in awe,
And when they please give to them the law;
And of powder and shot, they have such store,
As sometimes they refuse for to buy more;
Flints, screw-plates, and moulds for all sorts of shot
They have, and skill how to use them, have got;
And mend and new stock their pieces they can,
As well in most things, as an Englishman.
Thus like madmen we put them in a way,
With our own weapons us to kill and slay;
That gain hereof to make, they know so well,
The fowl to kill, and us the feathers sell.
For us to seek for deer it doth not boot,
Since now with guns themselves at them can shoot.
That garbage, of which we no use did make,
They have been glad to gather up and take;
But now they can themselves fully supply,
And the English, of them are glad to buy.
And yet if that was all it might be borne,
Though hereby th' English make themselves a scorn.
But now they know their advantage so well,
And will not stick, to some, the same to tell,
That now they can when they please or will,
The English drive away, or else them kill
Oh base wretched men, who thus for gain
Care not at all, if their neighbours be slain!
How can they think that this should do them good,

Which thus they purchase with the price of blood!
I know it is laid upon the French or Dutch,
And freely grant that they do use it much,
And make thereof an execrable trade,
Whereby those natives one another invade;
By which also, the Dutch and French do smart
Sometimes, for teaching them this wicked art;
But these both, from us more remote do lie,
And ours, from them, can have no full supply.
In these quarters, it is English guns we see,
For French and Dutch, more slight and weak they be;
And these Indians are now grown so wise,
As, in regard of these, theirs they do despise.
Fair fowling pieces, and muskets they have,
All English, and keep them both neat and brave;
And to our shame, speak it we justly may,
That we are not furnished so well as they;
For traders, them will sell at prices high,
Whereas their neighbors, of them cannot buy;
Good laws have been made, this evil to restrain,
But, by men's close deceit, they are made vain.
The Indians are nurtured so well
As, by no means, you can get them to tell,
Of whom they had their guns, or such supply,
Or, if they do, they will feign some false lie:
So as, if their testimony you take
For evidence, little of it you can make.
And of the English, so many are guilty,
And deal under-hand, in such secrecy,
As, very rare it is, some one to catch,
Though you use all due means, them for to watch.
Merchants, shopkeepers, traders, and planters too,
Sundry of each, spare not this thing to do;
Though, many more that do the same abhor,
Whose innocence will one day answer for,
If (which God forbid) they should come to see,
By this means, some hurt or sad tragedy;
And these heathen in their furious mood,
Should cruelly shed our innocent blood.
Lord shew mercy, and graciously spare,
For thy name's sake, those that thy servants are,
And let their lives be precious in thy sight;
Divert such judgments, as fall on them might,
Give them not up into these heathen's power,
Who like the greedy wolves would them devour,
And exercise on them their cruel rage,
With torments great and most salvage;
They are not content their foes only to kill,

But, most inhumanly, torment them they will.
They are men that are skilful for to destroy,
And in others misery, they do take joy.
O Lord take pity on thy people poor,
Let them repent, amend and sin no more;
Forgive, dear Father, what is done and past,
Oh save us still and not away us cast.
Ourselves are weak, and have no strength to stand,
Do thou support us, Lord, by thine own hand;
When we have need, be thou our succour then,
Let us not fall into the hands of men.

When I think on what I have often read,
How, when the elders and Joshua were dead:
Who had seen those great works, and them could tell,
What God had done, and wrought for Israel;
Yet they did soon forget and turn aside,
And, in his truth and ways, did not abide;
But in the next age did degenerate;
I wish this may not be New England's fate.

To you therefore that are for to succeed,
Unto this fair precedent, give you good heed,
And know that, being warn'd, if you do not,
But fall away; God's wrath 'gainst you'll be hot:
For if he spared not those that sinned of old,
But into the hands of spoilers them sold:
How can you think that you should then escape,
That do like them, and will no warning take.

O my dear friends, and children whom I love,
To cleave to God, let these few lines you move,
So I have done and now will say no more,
But remember, God punished them sore.

Melius est peccatum cavere quam emendare.

THE WILL AND INVENTORY OF JAMES BROWN OF SWANSEA, MASS.

Transcribed from the Original Records,

By George Ernest Bowman

James Brown of Swansea, son of John and Dorothy, married Lydia the daughter of John and Elizabeth (Tilley) Howland. The will of Elizabeth Howland, printed in our third volume, mentions her daughter Lydia Brown and her son-in-law James Brown, also her grandchildren James Brown, Jabez Brown and Dorothy Brown. The will of James Brown mentions his wife Lydia and his children James Brown, Jabez Brown and Dorothy Kent, and the Swansea records show that Dorothy had married Joseph Kent, Jr., on 12 November, 1690.

James Brown's will was made 25 October, 1694, and allowed 11 January, 1710/11. The inventory gives the date of his death as 29 October, 1710. The will and inventory were entered in the Bristol County Probate Records, Volume III, pages 6, 7 and 8. The original inventory and the bond of the executrix are still preserved in the files and have been used in making the transcripts for the printer.

ISAAC[2] ALLERTON'S WILL

Communicated by Mr. Walter S. Allerton

Isaac[2] Allerton, the son of Isaac[1] Allerton and Fear[2] Brewster (Elder William[1]), was born at Plymouth about 1630. When his father removed to New Amsterdam in 1638 he remained at Plymouth with his grandfather Elder Brewster, by whom he was being educated, and graduated from Harvard College in 1650, when he joined his father and was associated with him in business at New Amsterdam, New Haven, Virginia and elsewhere. After his father's death at New Haven in 1659 he removed to the plantation which had been acquired about ten years before on the Machoatick River, a small tributary of the Potomac, in Westmoreland County, Virginia, and resided there until his death in 1702. This plantation is laid down on Herrmann's map of Virginia and Maryland, made in 1670, and as a planter Isaac[2] Allerton was successful, and was prominent in the civil and military affairs of the colony. He was a Justice of the Peace, several times a member of the House of Burgesses and of the Governor's Council, and in 1699 Naval Officer and Receiver of the Virginia duties in Westmoreland County, including Yeocomico River. In 1691 Isaac[2] Allerton, John Armistead and Richard Lee the younger refused to take the oath of allegiance to William and Mary and resigned from the Governor's Council, and they were accused of being papists, certainly a strange accusation to bring against the grandson and pupil of Elder Brewster. In 1675 a joint expedition against the Indians was arranged by Virginia and Maryland, and the Virginia troops were commanded by Col. John Washington (great-grandfather of George Washington), Col. George Mason and Major Isaac Allerton, and in 1683 he was Lieutenant-Colonel of the Westmoreland Militia.

Isaac[2] Allerton was first married about 1652, probably at New Haven, but his first wife, of whom little is known except that her first name was Elizabeth, undoubtedly died before his removal to Virginia, where he again married, about 1663, Elizabeth, daughter of Capt. Thomas Willoughby, who was then the widow of Major George Colclough, and who is also said to have had for her first husband Simon Overzee, a Hollander.

[Notes on the Will of Isaac² Allerton]

Cople Parish occupied the lower or eastern part of Westmoreland County. It would seem that in 1702 there was but one church, but at a later date there were two, at Yeocomico in the east, and Nominy in the west.

Sarah Lee was the second child of Isaac² Allerton by his second wife, Elizabeth Willoughby, and must have been born about 1670, for the inscription on the tomb of Hancock Lee says: "and Sarah his last wife, daughter of Isaac Allerton Esq., who departed this life the 17th May, Anno Domo 1731, Aeta 60 years."

From the mention of a grandson Allerton Newton it is generally assumed that Isaac² Allerton had a fourth daughter whose first name is unknown, but it is equally possible that he was the son of Sarah by a first husband, and this would account for the joint devise of lands to them.

Elizabeth Heirs was the eldest child of Isaac² Allerton, and was born at New Haven, September 27, 1653. She married first, December 23, 1675, Benjamin Starr, who died in 1678, and second, July 22, 1679, Simon Eyres, Hyres or Hires.

Frances³ Allerton, who married Capt. Samuel Travers, was probably the youngest child of Isaac² Allerton. Willoughby³ Allerton was probably the first child of Isaac² Allerton and his second wife Elizabeth Willoughby. Like his father he was successful as a planter and prominent in civil and military life in the colony, and died in 1724.

The several bequests of tobacco in this will no doubt appear singular to us at this day, and a young girl who should now receive a thousand pounds upon her seventeenth birthday would no doubt be somewhat surprised, but at that time and in Virginia, where English money was scarce, tobacco was the common currency and measure of value, as beaver skins were at one time in some of the northern colonies.

[Isaac² Allerton's Will *]

In the name of God Amen the 25th day of October in the first year of the reign of our most gracious sovereign Lady Ann, by the grace of God and etc. Annoyi Domini 1702 — I, Isaac Allerton, of the Co. of Westmoreland in the Colony of Virginia, Esqr. being sick and week of body, but of sound and perfect memory thanks be to almighty God for the same, do

THE ESTATES OF WILLIAM² MULLINS AND HIS DAUGHTER SARAH³ (MULLINS) (GANNETT) (SAVILL) FAXON AND OF HER THREE HUSBANDS

In our January issue we printed the settlements of the estates of William² Mullins (*William*¹) and of his daughter Sarah's three husbands, Thomas Gannett, William Savill and Thomas Faxon. In this issue we give the settlement of Sarah Faxon's estate, with other records relating to her father and herself.

The earliest reference to William² Mullins on the Plymouth Colony records is under date of 2 October, 1637, when ten acres of upland were granted to Edmund Hawes at Duxbury, lying across Green Harbor Path next to William Mullins on the south side.*

On 6 April, 1640, ten acres of upland were granted to William Mullins across Green Harbor Path, between the lands of Edmund Hawes and John Tisdall.†

He next appears, as an inhabitant of Duxbury, in the list of males between the ages of sixteen and sixty, taken in August, 1643.‡

Aspinwall's Notarial Record, under the year 1648 (old style), contains the following note about him:

15 . (11)§ Wm Mullings & John Cuddington did uppon oath testifie that Hugh Burt of Linne was sonne of John Burt some times of Dorking in Surrey deceased and Elder Brother of Tho : Burt late of Dorking aforesd deceased . taken uppon oath before John Winthrop Governor : [Boston Record Com. Reports, xxxii : 190]

* Plym. Col. Rcds., Court Orders, I : 127. † Ibid., I : 229.

‡ Plym. Col. Rcds., Lists of Freemen, p. 31. § 15 January, 1648/9.

Under date of 3 June, 1662, the Colony Court granted him land at what is now Middleborough,* and in the Plymouth Colony Deeds [III : 21] we find that he received the twenty-third lot in the division. This land is probably that mentioned in the will of William Nelson, of Plymouth, dated 31 October, 1673, in which Nelson bequeaths to his son William several tracts of land at Middleborough, including meadow bought of William Mullins.†

"william mullings dyed the 12 m° 12 . 1672,"‡ at Braintree, probably at the house of his daughter, Sarah, the wife of Thomas Faxon. As February was the twelfth month in old style dating, this date should be read 12 February, 1672/3.

As already stated, Sarah[3] Mullins was married three times and outlived her last husband. The record of her first marriage, to Thomas Gannett of Duxbury and Bridgewater, has not been found, but her second and third marriages and the deaths of her second and third husbands were recorded at Braintree. The records are as follows:

[I : 125] william Savill and Sarah gannitt were maried the (6) (9) 1655 by maior Autherton of dorchester
[I : 25] william Savill dyed the 2 m° 6 1669
[I : 126] Thomas ffackson & Sarah Savill widow were Maried 7th m° 5th 1670 by Mr Tynge
[I : 35] Thomas ffaxen died Novembr 23th — 1680.

The record of the settlement of the estate of William[2] Mullins [ante, p. 37] proves that Thomas Faxon's wife Sarah Savill was the daughter of William Mullins. As she was a widow when she married Faxon and the records show that William Savill married "Sarah Gannitt," it is necessary to prove that "Sarah Gannitt" and Sarah the widow of Thomas Gannett were one and the same person. Thomas Gannett died between 19 June and 10 July, 1655, leaving everything to his wife Sarah, except a shilling and sixpence to his brother Matthew Gannett, and in October, 1669 (just after the death of Sarah's second husband, William Savill), the Plymouth Court ordered recorded certain additional evidence § in regard to the terms of Gannett's will, in order to enable the widow to legally dispose of her first husband's lands. That she later conveyed at least part of these lands to her brother-in-law Matthew Gannett, and had also changed her name to Faxon, is shown by the following entry on the "Records of the Purchasers of Bridgewater Book I" [page 22]:

* Court Orders, IV : 19.
† Plym. Col. Wills, Vol. IV, Pt. I, p. 54.
‡ Braintree Records, I : 25.
§ Ante, p. 39.

And now Mathew Ganuts in the yeare 168$\frac{8}{7}$

The chain of evidence is complete and it has been proved that the widow Sarah Faxon had married successively Thomas Gannett, William Savill and Thomas Faxon. Her will, printed at the end of this article, made 13 August, 1694, and proved 25 November, 1697, states her age as seventy-three years. She was, therefore, born about 1621. As she gave small legacies to her "Cousin, Ruth Webb," who was the daughter of John and Ruth (Alden) Bass, and to her stepson † Benjamin Savill and his wife Lydia, and then directed that the remainder of her estate should be divided among her "nearest relations" it is certain that she left no descendants, and no record has been found to show that she ever bore any children.

The names Mullins, Mullings, Munnings and Manning were badly mixed up by the carelessness of recording clerks, and a study of the original records, the details of which we have not space to give, proves that John Lawton married, in 1659, not "Johanna Mullings widow," ‡ but Joanna the widow of George Munnings. This effectually disposes of the claim that she was the widow of a son of William[2] Mullins.

The Boston records give the marriage, on 7 May, 1656, of a William Mullings to the widow Ann Bell, by Richard Bellingham, Deputy Governor.‡ This was probably William[2] Mullins, although complete proof of his identity has not yet been found. Ann Bell was the widow of Thomas Bell, of Boston, who died 7 June, 1655.‡ The entry, "Anne wife of William Munnings deceased the 4th of December," 1661, probably was intended for Anne "Mullings." ‡

In conclusion I desire to acknowledge the great assistance I have received from Mr. Edward H. Whorf, of our Committee on Publication, who has supplied the transcripts of the Braintree records, made by him from the original volume, and has freely placed at my disposal the results of an exhaustive study of the original records undertaken for the purpose of unraveling the Mullins, Mullings, Munnings and Manning tangle.

* "Husband" was crossed out and "relict" was undoubtedly written above, but all of the latter word except the first letter has been worn off.

† "Son In law" was used at that time in place of the modern term "stepson."

BILL OF MORTALITY IN THE SOUTH PARISH OF EASTHAM, 1772–1828

Communicated by Mr. Stanley W. Smith

Rev. Jonathan Bascom was pastor of the Congregational church in the South Precinct of Eastham from 1772 until his death in 1808, when he was succeeded by Rev. Daniel Johnson, who continued as pastor until 1828. In April, 1772, Mr. Bascom began to record in a little blank book, which now contains but twenty-six pages, the names of members of his parish who died during the year, and this record was kept up by Mr. Johnson. Unfortunately neither of these gentlemen seemed to think it important to give the exact date of any death. This is the more to be regretted since but a small proportion of the deaths mentioned in this list are to be found on the town records.

The South Precinct of Eastham was incorporated in the year 1797 as the Town of Orleans.

PILGRIM NOTES AND QUERIES

Notes

The England and Holland of the Pilgrims. Ex-Governor Morton Dexter, of the Massachusetts Society, has completed, and Messrs. Houghton, Mifflin & Co. have in press, a volume, The England and Holland of the Pilgrims, on which he has been at work for a number of years. It was undertaken by the late Rev. Dr. Henry M. Dexter, who died after gathering most of the material and putting it into rough shape. Prof. F. B. Dexter, Litt.D., of Yale, completed the unfinished last book, and Morton Dexter has rewritten and edited the whole. The conditions, social, civil and ecclesiastical, out of which the Pilgrim movement grew, are described, and also the life of the Pilgrims in Holland. An appendix includes all information about the members of the Pilgrim company to be gained from the archives in Amsterdam and Leyden. Other special features are a diagram of the famous Scrooby Manor house as it was in William Brewster's time, as indicated by statements in various deeds, leases, etc., and one of the estate on the Klooksteeg in Leyden, as it was when purchased for the Pilgrim headquarters. The volume will be out early next autumn.

Cape Cod Town Record Fund. (To be used in printing literal copies of records of Barnstable County towns.) Contributions received: Mrs. Sarah D. Cropley, $5.00; Mr. Alfred A. Doane, $5.00; Mr. Thomas H. Knowles, $7.00; Mr. Arthur E. Linnell, $15.00; Miss Susanna Willard, $2.00.

Old Colony Town Record Fund. (To be used in printing literal copies of records of Plymouth County towns.) Contributions received: Mr. J. Levering Jones, $5.00; Eugene Kingman, M.D., $10.00; Mr. William E. Stone, $2.00; Mr. Mason W. Tyler, $2.00; Mrs. George B. Whittlesey, $2.00; Mrs. Henry W. Wilkinson, $2.00; Mr. George Ernest Bowman, balance of receipts from sales of Freeman Genealogies and Bowman's Ancestral Charts donated, $106.50.

Halifax, Mass., Vital Records. The volume of "Vital Records of Halifax, Mass., to the end of the year 1849" will be issued about the first of November, 1905. The list of contributors to the "Old Colony Town Record Fund" and the list of advance subscribers for copies of the book will contain the names of all whose remittances are received before October 1, 1905. These lists will appear in the introductory pages and will not contain the names of those who forward advance orders not accompanied by a remittance. The price of the book will be $2.00, postage prepaid.

Linnell Genealogy. Mr. Arthur Ellsworth Linnell, of 86 Davis St., Wollaston, Mass., is compiling a genealogy and history of the descendants of Robert Linnell, who removed from Scituate to Barnstable in 1639, and desires the names and addresses of all persons who can trace their descent from this common ancestor.

Brewster Genealogy. Miss Emma C. Brewster Jones, of Norwood, Cincinnati, O., now has ready for the printer the manuscript of the First Part of her "Record of Descendants of Elder William Brewster of the Mayflower." This will be issued in two octavo volumes, making a total of about eleven hundred pages, provided she receives a sufficient number of subscriptions, at ten dollars for the two volumes.

Queries

60. Washburn. Ancestry desired of Lucy Washburn, who married Jonathan Whitney, 13 January, 1791, at Conway, Mass. Some of their descendants were of Shelburne and Hadley, Mass. A. C. E.

61. Higgins. Who were the ancestors of Sarah Higgins, wife of Thomas Winslow? He was born 29 February, 1723/4, married about 1741, and resided at Hardwick, Mass. N. F. T.

JABEZ² HOWLAND'S WILL AND INVENTORY AND THE AGREEMENT OF THE HEIRS

Transcribed from the Original Records,

By George Ernest Bowman

Jabez² Howland (*John*¹) died at Bristol (now in Rhode Island, but then a part of Massachusetts), probably not long before 6 February, 1711/12, the day his inventory was begun. His will was dated 14 May, 1708, was proved 21 February, 1711/12, and, with the inventory, executors' account and agreement of the heirs, was recorded in the Bristol County Probate Records, Volume III, pages 82, 154, 157, 238. The only original documents now in the files are the account of the executors and six receipts from creditors.

The will mentions by name only the wife Bethiah and the son Jabez, but the agreement of the heirs shows that the "four sons," who were to receive the estate after their mother's death or second marriage, were Jabez, Josiah, Samuel and Joseph, all living at Bristol. It also shows that a daughter Elizabeth had married Nathan Townsend of Newport, R. I., and died, leaving an only son, Nathan.

* The "7" is written over "8."

[Jabez² Howland's Will]

[p. 82] In the Name of God Amen I Jabez Howland of Bristol in the County of Bristol in the Province of the Massachuset bay in New England Blacksmith, haveing had Repeated warnings (by the paines of my body offten Returning upon me) of the approches of Death which is the appointed lott & portion of all men (haveing and Returning * my memory and understanding as at other times) Do make & ordaine this to be my last will & Testament: And first & principally I Resigne my soule into the hands of God who gave it, And as to my body I Commend it to the Earth to be Decently buried at the Discresion of my surviveing friends And as Touching my Temporall Estate wherewith it hath pleased God to bless me in this life I give bequeath & Dispose thereof in the following manner & form Item my will is that all my Just Debts & ffunerall Charges be fully sattisfyed in Convenient time after my Decease by my Executors hereafter Named

Item I give & bequeath to my Dear and Loveing wife my whole Estate of what Nature or kind so Ever whether Reall or personall that I shall dye Possessed of or shall belong or appertaine to me in whose hand or Costodie so Ever to be at her sole & absolut dispose, and for her use and Comfort for and Dureing her widowhood or bearing my Name & if my wife shall see cause to Marry then shall she be sattisfyed with her Thirds as the law provides in case of Intestates the Res[t] & Remaining part thereof to be Equally divided to and Among my four sons or those that shall Legally Represent them if any of them should dye: And the like Divission to be made in Case of the Death of my said wife

And of this my last will and Testament I do Nominate make and Ordain my beloved wife Bethiah Howland & my Loveing son Jabez Howland Joynt Executors and I do declare make Null & voyd all other & former wills bequest and Executors by me before this time Named willed or bequeathed declareing this and none but this to be my last will and Testament In Testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal this fourteent[h] day of May in the seventh year of her

THE WILLS AND INVENTORIES OF GEORGE² SOULE AND HIS WIDOW DEBORAH, WITH THE PETITION OF THE GRANDDAUGHTER MARY COGGESHALL

Transcribed from the Original Documents and Records

By George Ernest Bowman

George² Soule (*George*¹) died at Dartmouth, Mass., probably but a short time before 17 May, 1704, the day his inventory was taken. His widow Deborah died at Dartmouth between the date of her will, 24 January, 1708/9, and the day it was probated, 1 March, 1709/10. The original documents relating to George² Soule's estate have all disappeared from the probate files, but the will, inventory, receipts of heirs and petition of his granddaughter were recorded in the Bristol County Probate Records, Volume II, pages 93, 94 and 96, and in Volume III, pages 585, 586 and 599. Deborah Soule's will and inventory were recorded in Volume II, page 275, and the account of the executrix in Volume III, page 20, but these three original documents, with the bond of the executrix, are still in the files and have been used in making the transcript here presented.

[Bond of the Executrix *]

The bond of the executrix is on a printed form and is dated 1 March, 1709. The amount of the bond was £60 and the sureties were Nathaniel Soule and Jacob Soule, both of Dartmouth. Nathaniel signed his name to the bond, but Sarah and Jacob made their marks. The witnesses were Samuel Gallup and John Cary. The executrix was required, by the terms of the bond, to present an inventory on or before 10 April, 1710, and an account of her administration on or before 10 April, 1711.

JOHN[2] SAMSON'S SETTLEMENT OF HIS OWN ESTATE

Transcribed from the Original Records,

By George Ernest Bowman

John[2] Samson (Henry[1]) is mentioned in his father's will, printed in our second volume; but a long-continued search has failed to reveal any other mention of his name on the records until 1702, when the deed here presented was recorded. By this deed John[2] Samson of Dartmouth, Mass., conveys to his brother James[2] Samson, also of Dartmouth, all of the rights in land at Dartmouth given him by Henry[1] Samson's will. In return for this land James bound himself to provide John with food, raiment and other necessaries as long as he lived.

This deed proves conclusively that John Samson, the son of Henry Samson of the Mayflower, could not have been the person of the same name who, as stated by Vinton, in the Giles Memorial [p. 376], married Mary Pease in 1667 and lived for a time at Beverly, Mass., having three children born there.

As John is called a "Single man" in the deed, it is evident that he had never married and that he had no children, and by this deed he undoubtedly disposed of his entire estate, except possibly a few personal effects.

James² Samson made his will 10 January, 1715/16,* and did not provide for the future maintenance of his brother John. It may safely be assumed, therefore, that John² Samson died before his brother James.

The deed here given was dated 21 May, 1702, and acknowledged 27 May, 1702. It was recorded in the Bristol County Registry of Deeds, Volume III, page 446.

[John² Samson to James² Samson]

PILGRIM NOTES AND QUERIES

NOTES

MAJ. JOHN BRADFORD'S HOUSE. To all who are interested in preserving ancient historical sites: An opportunity is now offered to purchase the "Old Bradford House," in which purchase we are sure that you will be glad to assist. This house, which is situated in Kingston, Mass. (formerly a part of Plymouth), was built by Maj. John Bradford, a grandson of Gov. William Bradford, in 1674, about the time of his marriage to Mercy Warren, a granddaughter of Richard Warren of the Mayflower.

There is no house now standing which is so near to the Pilgrim Fathers as this, and to save it from the fate of so many old houses lost by fire, neglect and decay, active measures should at once be taken.

In this house the priceless manuscript of "Bradford's History of Plimoth Plantation," bequeathed to his oldest son, John, by Maj. William Bradford, was kept until it was loaned to Rev. Thomas Prince of the Old South Church.

A few rods distant from the house is the spot where the Pilgrims came in their boat, three days after the Mayflower cast her anchor in Plymouth harbor, to see if it were a more favorable place for settlement than that which they had first examined.

The dense forests then existing there and fear of the savages alone prevented this from becoming the most favored spot in New England.

The sum of two thousand dollars will be required to purchase this venerable house, with its acre of ground, and put it in condition to be made a museum for articles of historical interest and a Mecca for all modern pilgrims who may desire to visit a place so worthy of their tender regard.

We ask you to assist in this object by sending your contribution to the Treasurer of the Society, Mr. Nathaniel U. Walker, No. 53 Mt. Vernon Street, Boston, Mass. Marcus Morton, Mrs. Edward T. Barker, Miss Susan B. Willard, George C. Burgess, Mrs. Burr Porter, Committee on Marking Historic Sites.

BRADFORD HOUSE FUND. (To be used in purchasing and preserving the Maj. John Bradford House.) Contributions received, to September 1, 1905: Mr. William L. Benedict, $5.00; Mrs. Julia H. Copeland, $10.00; Mrs. William Lawrie, $5.00; Mrs. James McKay, Sr., $1.00; Mr. George A. Moriarty, Jr., $5.00; Mrs. Mary S. P. Stran, $10.00.

HALIFAX, MASS., VITAL RECORDS. The volume of records of births, intentions of marriage, marriages and deaths in Halifax, Mass., down to 1850, is now completed, with the exception of the index, which is in the printer's hands, and it will be issued before November 1, 1905. The book will be sent, postage prepaid, on receipt of $2.00. All receipts from sales of this book will be added to the Old Colony Town Record Fund and used in printing the records of other Plymouth County Towns. Remittances should be made payable to the Massachusetts Society of Mayflower Descendants, and addressed to the Editor.

CAPE COD TOWN RECORD FUND. (To be used in printing literal copies of records of Barnstable County towns.) Contributions received, to September 1, 1905: Mr. Lorenzo D. Baker, $10.00; Mr. Lorenzo D. Baker, Jr., $10.00; Mr. Alfred A. Doane, $3.00; Mr. James A. Jones, $5.00; Mr. Matthew Luce, $15.00; Mr. Albert O. Smith, $10.00; Mr. Stanley W. Smith, $30.00; Mr. Timothy Smith, $10.00; Mr. Andrew W. Rogers, $50.00; Mr. Sidney W. Winslow, $50.00.

CROWELL. On the fly-leaf of a copy of "Psalms, Carefully Suited to the Christian Worship in the United States of America," printed at Philadelphia in 1793 and now in this Society's library, are written the following entries: "Martha Crowell present by Thankfull Crowell March 7th 1805"; "Marther Crowe[ll] Departed this life Nove: the 12 18015"; "Rachel fox her book Once the property of my mother receivd in memory of Mather Crowell"; "tho thy deer sp[iri]t long hath bin removed. I hop to mansions of redeeming love this book I hold A pledge of love to thee. hoping in glory thy deer face to see. Dec the 4 1815."

The second, third and fourth entries appear to have been made by the same hand and written at one time. The third entry, as originally written, read "her mother," but "her" was crossed out and "my" interlined in the same hand and ink.

SAMSON–HAMMOND. In our sixth volume we printed the will of James[2] Samson (Henry[1]), with various receipts signed by the heirs. According to the probate records one of these receipts was signed by Solomon and Priscilla Hammond [See M. D., VI : 184]. This name was printed as written, but the recording clerk made an error and should have written Samuel Hammond instead of Solomon, as will be shown by the following notes. In the Bristol County Registry of Deeds, Volume X, page 706, is recorded a deed of gift from James Samson of Dartmouth "unto My Son in Law Samuel Hammond . . . . . unto him the s[d] Samuel Hammond : Forty acres . . . . . within . . . . . Dartmouth . . . . . in the Next devesion . . . . . after the Eight Hundred acre grant . . . . . unto him the s[d] Samuel Hammond . . . . . to the s[d] Samuel Hammond," &c. This deed was dated 27 December, 1712; witnessed by Rebecca Pope and Asa Beale; and acknowledged 7 January, 1712/13, before Seth Pope, justice of the peace.

In Volume XXI, page 232, in the same registry, we find a deed dated 24 August, 1725, in which Samuel Hammond, Jr., of Rochester, Mass., conveys this same land to his father, Samuel Hammond of Rochester, in exchange for other lands.

In the first deed the name Samuel Hammond occurs four times as quoted, and it is impossible to believe that the recording clerk could have made the same error four times in copying the name of the grantee in different parts of a long deed. The second deed, made a dozen years later, in which the grantee of the first deed becomes the grantor, makes the evidence still more conclusive that James[2] Samson's daughter married Samuel Hammond, Jr., and not Solomon Hammond.

SOULE–STETSON. Through the courtesy of Mr. Thomas D. Morton, Town Clerk of Halifax, Mass., we are allowed to print the following interesting letter. The intention of marriage and the marriage record referred to, and the birth of the first child, have been printed in this magazine [V : 105; VII : 52; VII : 113].

The writer of the letter was the local postmaster, as the letter is endorsed on the back: "Galen Soule P M North Fairfield Me, free." It was addressed: "To the Town Clerk of Halifax Mass."

Fairfield, Decr. 10–1839.

Dear Sir

I wish to obtain information respecting the Marriage of Asa Soule and Ruth Howland Stetson both of Halifax it appears by a record that has been keeped that thay ware married Decr. 27th. 1784 I wish to obtain this information for the following reasons whereas Asa Soule served his Country in erly life and with others recived a pention for several years he died July 17–1838– and lef his widow in low circumstances I expect she will be intited to some help from goverment it is the law in this state that all marriages shall be recorded by the Town Clerk — if a record can be found or if you can asist me to the nessary information if you will be pleased to write and Send your bill I will send you the money please to direct your letter to Galen Soule P M at North Fairfield

A Sears Bible Record. The following entries are found in a bible printed at Oxford, Eng., in 1789, and recently presented to the Massachusetts Society by a member, Miss Abby C. Howes, who is a great-granddaughter of the original owner. On the fly-leaf is written "Edmund Sears J[r] His Bible Bought at Boston August the 25^{t} y1791."

On a blank page at the end of "Malachi" are recorded, all at one time and in the same hand, the births of Edmund Sears' eleven children and the death of the third one. Another hand recorded the deaths of Edmund and his wife Hannah; and the deaths of their daughter Hannah and her husband, Abner Howes, are in still another hand. These records are as follows:

Jacob Sears was born october the 9 Day 1771

Book Notes

A History of the United States and Its People. Elroy McKendree Avery, LL.D., has been engaged nearly twenty years in the writing of an extended history of our country, broad in its scope, readable, comprehensive, judicial, unbiased — a true history. The work is brought out by the Burrows Brothers Company, Cleveland, O. It has been our privilege to peruse the first volume, dealing with the period of discovery. Of course we look forward eagerly to the second of the twelve volumes, covering the epoch from 1600 to 1688, the epoch of the planting of European colonies on the soil of North America. But we can have no doubt as to the ability with which that era, of such peculiar interest to Mayflower descendants, is treated by Dr. Avery. The first volume, as an indication of the whole great work, is a superb piece of historical writing.

There are histories and histories, and of the writing of American histories there is no end. Was there need of another, so broad in its scope? There was and is need of precisely this grand work of Dr. Avery. It is unique in many important respects. Can it be said that we have a genuinely popular history of our country? There are many short histories — largely mere skimmings of the vast subject, sacrificing altogether too much to the necessity of crowding into a few hundred pages the whole great drama of America. There are histories in four, in six and in more volumes — numerous excellent works — but many dwell so much on one or more epochs as sadly to diminish the perfectness of the whole. In no department of literature is it more difficult than in historical writing to acquire the sense of proportion, and having acquired it, consistently to practice it

Most historians have their particular hobbies — a century, a war, the theological, the literary or the economic side of the subject, or else — and this is well-nigh fatal — a lack of true historical judgment, an inability to give candid conclusions of the motives and of the doings of men of the past.

And in our larger histories, running to many volumes, some of them, we find the element of popularity sacrificed. The fear of over-condensation is offset by prolixity. Thus we have works, so full of marginal notes and references, so hampered with appendices, that it is a wearisome task for the reader to peruse them. Such works belong properly to the class of reference volumes and as such the toil involved in their compilation reaps its reward in constant use by the student and the writer. But for popular reading, meaning the perusal that is given by the great reading class, the very bone and sinew of our people, is there not need of a history, pursuing the record of American development, running smoothly, readable with ease, and yet complete? A history, truly such, yet truly adapted for the great majority — long enough to cover all subjects, but lacking prolixity or speculations on points of interest to but few?

Such a work is Dr. Avery's. We rejoice in the easy style, the clear English, the direct statement of facts. We are not called upon constantly to drop the glance to some reference or footnote, to turn to an appendix, or to interrupt in any manner the smooth and orderly perusal of a history, written so ably and so well that one reads as if it were the most entertaining of romances. And so should true history read. There is apt to be a mystical halo around the men and women of former times; the tinge of romance ever surrounds the great and good, and even the evil ones who have impressed their personality on this world of ours. The true historian seeks not to uproot this inborn tendency of our race, unimaginative though the Anglo-Saxon popularly is supposed to be in many ways. We are not a race of Gradgrinds, ever crying "facts, facts"; we want the artistic, the romantic setting — not out of proportion, not in place of facts, but to heighten them, to present them the more vividly to the imagination. The historian who makes due allowance for this need of the popular mind, who does not condemn and, like a surgeon, cut into history and historical personages as with a scalpel, but who touches the pages of history with a human touch, by means of a brilliant, yet accurate style — such an historian's work is needed, and we welcome Dr. Avery's volumes in the feeling that here we have great progress towards the ideal which we have endeavored to indicate.

This book is written clearly, vigorously, fascinatingly. It shows the result of thorough and matured study, reflection and understanding and of knowledge of men and how to get right at their hearts and minds. This first volume deals with prehistoric America, the Northmen, the Spanish and other early discoverers and the Indians. It is enriched with maps, beautifully colored and with numerous illustrations, while the type, paper, binding — the physical volume — make a realization of the hopes of all who would have their country's story, ably written, in a setting appropriate and beyond criticism. The Burrows Brothers Company deserves hearty congratulation on the success which it has made in producing this beautiful volume, the first of a series which as a whole is sure to take high rank in the field of American historical work, and we feel confident that in every way, and in every meaning of the term, it will prove a popular history of the United States and of its people.

E. S. Crandon.
